Last week...

The Big Class rounded up their work on 'The Gingerbread Man' by making their own. There was no chance for these ones to escape before they were eaten! We then focussed on 'Goldilocks and the three bears'. The children retold the story with masks, painted bears, created a Bear's cottage in the role play area, compared and used the vocabulary of size and explored porridge oats, watching the change that takes place when water is added! The Little Class have been busy with their 'Birds' topic and this week enjoyed exploring feathers and then using glue to create their own birds. We've had more icy fun outside and we're encouraging all of the Big Class to become more independent when getting ready to go out, whether that's doing up zips or putting on wellies.

Next week...

The Big Class are going to start work on 'The three little pigs.' There will be much huffing and puffing, as well as a complete change for our role play—it will become a building site! We'll be adding lots of opportunities for mark making, such as clip boards to check off the jobs! There will also be challenges to build houses that can withstand a wolf! The Little Class will be developing their work on 'Birds' further and will be listening to music and dancing like birds.

Little Class...

Do you have any bird books or bird pictures at home? (Or even a pet bird?) The Little Class would love to have a look at them for their project work. Miss Julie and Miss Mel will look after any items brought in!
